

VIRGINIA NOW HAS RED CROSS BOARD

Will Receive Relief Contributions at Times of Great Disaster.

The American Red Cross has just completed the organization of the Virginia State board, consisting of Governor Mann, as president; Thomas B. McAdams, as president; George E. Casale, of Lynchburg; Samuel Cohen, of Richmond; Rev. T. P. Epps, of Blackstone; Rev. S. C. Hatcher, of Richmond; J. W. Hough, of Norfolk; Robert A. Hughes, of Norfolk; and J. Hoge Tyler, of East Radford.

This board is to serve as a standing finance committee for the American Red Cross in the State of Virginia. It has only one function, but that is an important one—namely, to become the custodian of contributions given for relief purposes by the people of the State in response to appeals from the Governor or from the Red Cross in the event of the occurrence of a great disaster. Mr. McAdams has been appointed treasurer of the board. Relief contributions sent to any member of the board will be forwarded by that member to the treasurer. Mr. McAdams, in turn, will forward all contributions to the treasurer of the American Red Cross at Washington, or to the properly authorized Red Cross representative in charge of relief work at the scene of disaster. Governor Mann has very cordially entered into the plan, and has accepted the presidency of the board. It seems peculiarly appropriate that the Governor of a State should become the head of the State organization of the Red Cross, since the President of the United States is the head of the national organization.

The American Red Cross is the only organization of national scope engaged in the work of emergency relief caused by great calamities or epidemics. It has a special charter from Congress and is under Federal supervision. It is required annually to submit a report of its operations to Congress and its financial affairs are required to be audited annually by the War Department. It is governed by a central committee of eighteen members, six of whom are appointed by the President of the United States from the executive departments of the State, War, Navy, Treasury and Justice. This governmental supervision assures the safeguarding of all relief funds entrusted to the Red Cross for expenditure. The organization, however, receives no appropriations from Congress for its support, but is dependent entirely upon private contributions for all its income. During the last five years the Red Cross has expended more than $5,000,000 in its relief work. This record far surpasses that of any other similar organization in existence.

CIRCUIT COURT ADJOURNS.
Judge Moffett leaves to hold Roanoke City Circuit Court.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
The December term of the Montgomery Circuit Court adjourned here yesterday after being in session for two weeks. In order that Judge W. M. Moffett might hold the Roanoke City Circuit Court, which convened to-day.

Three felony cases and one appealed misdemeanor were tried, the being one conviction, one hung jury and two acquittals. O. D. Gross, who was tried for abduction, the trial lasting four days, will be retried in June, the jury standing eight to four for conviction. His brother, G. T. Gross, was acquitted on the same charge by direction of the court, there being no evidence to corroborate the prosecution in his case.

The next term will be the fifth day of February, and a large docket awaits the court. The Montgomery docket is the heaviest in the circuit, and one of the heaviest of any county in this section of the State.

A large quantity of five-inch ice has been harvested here during the past week, and the oldest inhabitant cannot recall such a long spell of early in the winter as has prevailed for the past three weeks.

A Novel Christmas Present

You cannot give mother, sister, wife or sweetheart anything more pleasing than an electric toaster-stove. It costs no more than a big box of candy or a bunch of roses, and will be a source of delight to her years after the candy or roses would be forgotten. The toaster-stove is more than a food—it is an efficient little cooker that a woman is sure to make use of every time the maid is absent. She likes to use it, because with it she can sit down and cook at the table and doesn't have to bother with the kitchen. Then for the breakfast. It gives every member of the family exactly the kind of toast he wants—hot and crisp.

Ask the Virginia Railway and Power Company to explain just how you may be the means of carrying great joy into the heart of your lady friends by giving them something electrical for Christmas, such as electric irons, chafing dishes, etc.

SWANN LOSES SUIT
Verdict for City in Important Damage Case.

The city of Richmond wins an important point through the decision of a jury in the City Circuit Court yesterday in the case of Thomas C. Swann against the city of Richmond, when a verdict was rendered for the defendant. Swann lives on East Clay Street where the city has in the past year made extensive improvements, grading a large number of streets, paving some, constructing sewers and spending large amounts. Mr. Swann claimed that through the grading of the streets and alleys, in some cases during several feet, the drainage had been thrown on his land, causing water to stand in his stables and otherwise damage his property. The jury was shown that the trouble could be readily remedied by installing proper drainage, and that the entire neighborhood would soon have an adequate system of sewerage to carry off all surface and standing water. The action was for $2,000.

APPROACHES ACUTE STAGE.
Nearness of Election in Suffolk Adds to Intense Feeling.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Suffolk, Va., December 15.—With only three more days including Sunday, before Suffolk's local option election, the campaign is approaching the acute stage. Up to this week the contest had been conducted quietly and with dignity, but the opposing committees have begun to deluge the voters with printed statements, arguments, charges and countercharges. The "dry" are seeking to prove insincerity of the "wet" by pointing out increased local prosperity during the period of drought, while the "wets" contend that saloons have been barred at heavy financial loss to the city. The truth of rival declarations has been challenged in print, and feeling is increasing.

You insure your Life—
Why not insure your Health by using Cottolene?

It isn't the quantity of food you eat, but that portion of it that digests that brings health and strength.

Lard-soaked food never has been, never can be digestible and nourishing, because of the hog fat it contains.

Cottolene is far more healthful than lard because Cottolene is a vegetable product, makes food rich without being greasy, and can easily be digested by the stomach of a child.

They say the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. People who have used and are using Cottolene for all shortening and frying purposes say that the way to health is through the use of Cottolene.

Cottolene shortens your food; lengthens your life.

Health Department Prepares School Catechism on Tuberculosis.
"A Tuberculosis Catechism," intended to be taught younger children in the public schools of Virginia, forms the December Bulletin of the State Health Department. The catechism is divided into two lessons, and only simple words are used so that all may understand what is meant. The nature of the disease, its transmission, the germ theory, prevention and cure are treated in a simple way.

In the introduction, the Health Department urges public school teachers to instruct the younger children in the catechism and to teach them other truths about consumption. "Every teacher," it says, "who does this, even if it involves a sacrifice of time and a temporary rearrangement of regular work, may be assured that he has given his pupils a better chance in life, a stronger assurance of future happiness. If possible, the catechism should be used during the sale of the Christmas seals and as frequently thereafter as possible."
